

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

Harlan Iske,

Plaintiff

v.

CCDC, et al.,

Defendants

Case No. 2:24-cv-01586-CDS-DJA

Dismissal Order

Plaintiff Harlan Iske brings this civil-rights action under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 to redress constitutional violations that he claims he suffered while incarcerated at Clark County Detention Center. ECF No. 1-1. On March 31, 2025, the magistrate judge ordered Iske to update his address by April 30, 2025. ECF No. 3. That deadline expired without an updated address or any other response from Iske.

I. Discussion

District courts have the inherent power to control their dockets and “[i]n the exercise of that power, they may impose sanctions including, where appropriate . . . dismissal” of a case. Thompson v. Hous. Auth. of City of Los Angeles, 782 F.2d 829, 831 (9th Cir. 1986). A court may dismiss an action based on a party’s failure to obey a court order or comply with local rules. See Carey v. King, 856 F.2d 1439, 1440-41 (9th Cir. 1988) (affirming dismissal for failure to comply with local rule requiring pro se plaintiffs to keep court apprised of address); Malone v. U.S. Postal Serv., 833 F.2d 128, 130 (9th Cir. 1987) (dismissal for failure to comply with court order). In determining whether to dismiss an action on one of these grounds, the Court must consider: (1) the public’s interest in expeditious resolution of litigation; (2) the Court’s need to manage its docket; (3) the risk of prejudice to the defendants; (4) the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits; and (5) the availability of less drastic alternatives. See In re Phenylpropanolamine Prod. Liab. Litig., 460 F.3d 1217, 1226 (9th Cir. 2006) (quoting Malone v. U.S. Postal Serv., 833 F.2d 128, 130 (9th Cir. 1987)).

1 The first two factors, the public's interest in expeditiously resolving this litigation and the 2 Court's interest in managing its docket, weigh in favor of dismissal of Iske's claims. The third factor, 3 risk of prejudice to defendants, also weighs in favor of dismissal because a presumption of injury 4 arises from the occurrence of unreasonable delay in filing a pleading ordered by the court or 5 prosecuting an action. See Anderson v. Air West, 542 F.2d 522, 524 (9th Cir. 1976). The fourth factor—
6 the public policy favoring disposition of cases on their merits—is greatly outweighed by the factors 7 favoring dismissal.

8 The fifth factor requires me to consider whether less drastic alternatives can be used to 9 correct the party's failure that brought about the Court's need to consider dismissal. See Yourish v.
10 Cal. Amplifier, 191 F.3d 983, 992 (9th Cir. 1999) (explaining that considering less drastic alternatives 11 before the party has disobeyed a court order does not satisfy this factor); accord Pagtalunan v. Galaza, 12 291 F.3d 639, 643 & n.4 (9th Cir. 2002) (explaining that “the persuasive force of” earlier Ninth 13 Circuit cases that “implicitly accepted pursuit of less drastic alternatives prior to disobedience of 14 the court's order as satisfying this element[,]” i.e., like the “initial granting of leave to amend 15 coupled with the warning of dismissal for failure to comply[,]” have been “eroded” by Yourish).
16 Courts “need not exhaust every sanction short of dismissal before finally dismissing a case, but 17 must explore possible and meaningful alternatives.” Henderson v. Duncan, 779 F.2d 1421, 1424 (9th Cir.
18 1986). Because this action cannot realistically proceed without the ability for the Court and the 19 defendants to send Iske case-related documents, filings, and orders, the only alternative is to enter a 20 second order setting another deadline. But without an updated address, the likelihood that the 21 second order would even reach Iske is low, so issuing a second order will only delay the inevitable
22 and further squander the Court's finite resources. Setting another deadline is not a meaningful 23 alternative given these circumstances. So the fifth factor favors dismissal.

24 II. Conclusion

25 Having thoroughly considered these dismissal factors, I find that they weigh in favor of 26 dismissal. It is therefore ordered that this action is dismissed without prejudice based on Iske's
27 failure to file an updated address in compliance with this Court's March 31, 2025, order. The Clerk

1 of Court is directed to enter judgment accordingly and close this case. No other documents may be 2 filed in this now-closed case. If Iske wishes to pursue his claims, he must file a complaint in a new 3 case and provide the Court with his current address.

4 It is further ordered that Iske's application to proceed in forma pauperis [ECF No. 5] is 5 denied as moot.
